There's no doubting the confidence you feel when you look in the mirror and see an attractive and youthful-looking smile reflected back; a smile your partner and friends all admire.

Unfortunately not everyone can boast a perfect smile. Maybe you're missing teeth, would like to get rid of a removable denture or old tooth-supported bridge, have badly worn or discoloured teeth, or oddly shaped and crowded teeth? Perhaps your smile doesn't 'fit' your face? In addition, do the gingival or gum tissues around your teeth look healthy, pink and even? Or do you show too much gum tissue... or too little?

These are all common issues related to a 'failing' and ageing smile. The Macquarie Street Centre is at the forefront of implant and cosmetic reconstructive dentistry, and thankfully with today's modern dental technologies and techniques all of these issues can be addressed. It is important this treatment is completed with an appreciation of form, shape and colour as well as a thorough understanding and awareness of the scientific and technical requirements to undertake this type of treatment.

Your final treatment solution is dependent on the skills and talents of your practitioner and the time required in order to undertake this treatment properly for you. So as 2010 comes to a close, why not consider making the changes to achieve the smile you've always wanted?

There are numerous options available to create a new and long-lasting beautiful smile that you can be confident in showing to everyone you meet.

All-porcelain veneers and all-porcelain crowns and bridges have revolutionised aesthetic dentistry. It's important to have a highly skilled and experienced practitioner to understand and know what is the most ideal technology to be used in your individual circumstance. This will provide you with the most superior solution based on the assessment of appearance, function and long-term prognosis. Quality and predictable aesthetic and reconstructive dental treatment requires the practitioner to possess a combination of skills and talents, including an artistic awareness. So no matter how difficult or impossible you feel it may be to achieve the beautiful smile you've always wanted, it's not beyond you!

Dental implants have progressed rapidly, even in the past five years, reducing both the time and cost of treatment and offering even more predictable and long-term solutions.

They can be used to replace missing teeth – from a single tooth right through to those who are missing all of their teeth in one or both jaws.

New implant designs and our use of sophisticated implant planning software, combined with cutting-edge three-dimensional analysis and planning, assist us in achieving optimal aesthetic, functional and long-term treatment solutions. The results are typically beautiful, healthy and predictable smiles with excellent function.

As the season of giving approaches, why not give yourself the gift of a stunning smile that will provide beauty, health and function long into the future! acsm
